PS3 Media Server is a software application for networked media playback. Content may be displayed on your home theatre system or other DLNA compliant device. Playlist content may be shared across many devices in the network. With PS3 Media Server it is easy to add new video or audio content. It can also be used as a storage device. Main features: - Playback of all popular media formats from both video and audio discs. - Support for digital video and audio content - Video and audio transcoding for other formats. - Automatic add of media content. - Can create playlists of all media content. - Works with all common and commonly used media players - Integrated playback controls with instant feedback - Optional support of subtitles and chapters - Support for video-on-demand (VOD) - Support of watch services - Various album art - Various streams - Support for various codecs - Support for various file types - Support for various streaming protocols - Support for Chromecast - User friendly interface - Easy to install and setup - Easy to use PS3 Media Server (Subtitles): In a nutshell, this application features subtitles on the media files and can be synchronized with other subtitles that have been encoded by an external subtitle encoder (SSI). It works like any good video player. You can select your subtitles and encode them with your preferred subtitles provider. With the PS3 Media Server, you can import subtitles in a variety of formats, including English, German, French, Spanish, Italian and more. PS3 Media Server is able to synchronize automatically with the external subtitles encoder. This method allows you to run the subtitles asynchronously, which makes it possible for the subtitles to change along with the video content, which allows for subtitles that are synchronized with the video content. PS3 Media Server (Chapters): With this application you can add or remove chapters of videos on discs. If you are not too fond of this feature, then you can get rid of it. PS3 Media Server (Custom Lists): PS3 Media Server allows you to create a list of your favorite media content. These are called Custom Lists and will be displayed in the section Custom Lists. You can save this list to a file to allow your content to be played again later. PS3 Media Server (Search): The application can search for media files on the hard disk or shared folder on other network devices. In case you

Truhitte David G. Truhitte is a former member of the Louisiana House of Representatives for District 48, a Madison Parish-based district encompassing the towns of Melville and Leakesville. Truhitte ran in a special election held in March 2014 to replace Jamie Mayo, a Democrat, who resigned in the wake of allegations of sexual harassment against him. Truhitte was one of five candidates to run in the special election, and he won the runoff election in May 2014 with 55 percent of the vote to defeat lawyer Valerie L. Ray, who had 41 percent of the vote. Political career Truhitte, the first African American to represent District 48, was a member of the Republican Party. He served as a member of the Louisiana Public Service Commission from 2004 until his resignation on December 31, 2012, to take a job in the administration of Republican Governor Bobby Jindal. Truhitte's first official duty as a member of the House was to preside over a tribute to the late U.S. Representative William J. Jefferson on June 27, 2013. In February 2014, the House voted by a narrow margin (50–48) to pass a bill that would allow workers to form labor unions and engage in collective bargaining. The bill's chief opponent, Republican Representative L. Bruce Mayfield, accused Truhitte of "putting his party before his constituents." Truhitte said that he was concerned about the bill's effect on Louisiana's unemployment rate, which was then 7.2 percent. Truhitte announced his resignation from the House on November 27, 2013. He resigned so that he could begin working in the Jindal administration. In the special election held on March 4, 2014, Truhitte defeated Democrat Valerie L. Ray in the runoff by a margin of 1,836 to 1,350 votes. Truhitte did not seek reelection in the primary election held on October 24, 2014, and he was succeeded in the House by Democrat Drew Semon, who narrowly defeated Truhitte's former legislative aide, Dale V. Scranton. Truhitte, who was running for the Republican nomination for governor, took third place in the 2014 Republican primary election with 11.6 percent of the vote, trailing first- and second-place finishers Bobby Jindal and John Neely Kennedy. Personal life Truhitte graduated from Louisiana State University with a bachelor of science degree in accounting. He is married to Cheryl Truhitte, a kindergarten teacher in rural Madison Parish. The couple has two children, a son and a daughter.
