February was busiest for Irish companies on record Thu, Apr 29, 2012, 00:00 Nicky Curtin Bank of Ireland rose last month by more than 100pc to €1.4bn, but has seen profit margins plunge this year. Source: Getty Images Irish companies, for the first time in more than a year, have generated record profits for the first two months of 2012, but warned that the global financial crisis was still affecting their ability to trade. Last month, it was the biggest February ever for Irish companies on record, generating a profit of €1.4bn, according to independent analyst Richard Kearney. It was also a strong month for the banking sector, which rose by more than 100pc to €1.4bn in the month, according to figures from the Central Bank. "Both the property and insurance sector, as well as the central bank, generated record profits. Having said that, this was an extremely difficult month for the banking sector," Mr Kearney said. The Central Bank said it was working to stabilise mortgage arrears issues on mortgage loans, but warned that this was a process that would continue well into the future. Its asset acquisition ratio at the end of February was 1.27pc, the highest in the euro area. The State agency Fáilte Ireland, which draws its funding from an annual cess on the basic rate of income tax, said it had
